General Comment

It seems your well-intentioned bill will penalize those of us who have spent many hours educating ourselves on how to use options to decrease risk and increase income. Please understand that for those of us that have put in the time will have their retirement adversely affected by any such provision. I have 20 years experience with options and work in the health care industry not the financials. It isn't rocket science. Please do not penalize me for trying to gain a safer and more productive retirement account!
